Evidence of school performance
Key statements from Ofsted report(s) relating to the performance of disadvantaged pupils:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The proportion of disadvantaged students eligible for extra support from the pupil premium funding is higher than the national average.</li> <li>• The spending of the pupil premium funding has been effective in supporting personalised learning and mentoring programmes, targeted at the disadvantaged, so that their learning gains are becoming more rapid and is supporting the closing of gaps well overall. This was recognised formally by the government minister, David Laws MP, who wrote to the academy in January 2014 congratulating them on their success. However, despite an increase in the progress such students do make, the Year 11 group who left in 2014 saw a gap that widened. This is not the case overall across other year groups where this gap is narrowing.</li> <li>• Gaps between the progress of groups of learners is narrowing over time.</li> <li>• In 2013 GCSE English, the results of the disadvantaged students were about three-quarters of a grade lower than their peers in the academy and those nationally. Provisional GCSE English results for both disadvantaged and their peers in 2014 have improved although this gap has remained steady. However, the actual progress made by all groups of students in both English and Mathematics is stronger than in previous years, given their starting points in Year 7.</li> <li>• The Academy needs to further improve teaching so that all students reach the highest standards they can by continuing to close the gaps in achievement between disadvantaged students and their peers.</li> <li>• Gaps between the progress made by different groups of learners, particularly the disadvantaged and the most able, have not always been identified accurately in order to close achievement gaps nor consistently challenge learners. However, swift action is now impacting on this.</li> </ul>
